

International Society of Automation
Setting the Standard for Automation™

Dear Atharva Kalase,

As your elected president, I thank you for your membership. With your support in ISA and the automation community, we continue to advance technical competence by connecting the automation community to achieve operational excellence.

ISA is your organization. I believe the more engaged you are, the more value you will receive. The best place to get started is ISA Connect, your community to connect with industry peers, share resources, and participate in technical conversations. To get the most out of your ISA experience, join the conversation at <https://connect.isa.org>.

You can also join any number of our technical divisions, engage in your local section to network with peers near you, or volunteer to help ISA with global projects. Create your profile on Connect and check out volunteer opportunities at <https://connect.isa.org/engage/volunteeroportunities>.

Your membership is important to me and ISA. If you have any questions, please contact an ISA Customer Service Specialist at info@isa.org.

Together we will create a better world through automation.

Sincerely,

Carlos Mandolesi

2022 ISA President
